

PULP Session

We're traditionally not the counting-calories types here at Smuttynose, preferring instead to imbibe whatever and wherever the wind might take us. But, like everyone, with age comes responsibility, and all those IPAs can have us feeling a little tight around the mid-section.

Enter Pulp Session, the lightest, least guilt-inducing beer we've ever brewed. At just 3.7% ABV and so few calories you'll hardly even notice them, it's a zippy session ale you'll swear was zested fresh from a ripe orange right into your glass.

For when you want a beer minus the bloat, make it a Pulp Session.
